

Omission

Dear Beer Buyer,

I regularly visit your establishment and would like you to consider offering Omission beer. As you may know, Omission beer is the first craft beer brand in the United States focused exclusively on brewing great tasting craft beers with traditional beer ingredients, including malted barley, that are specially crafted to remove gluten.

Options like Omission Lager and Omission Pale Ale are important because 43 million Americans suffer from some kind of food intolerance, and as a result, a number of consumers like me need more options.

Omission beer is now available nationwide. For more information about the beer and how you can start offering the beers to your customers, please check out: www.omissionbeer.com and contact the Omission team directly at: contact@omissionbeer.com.

I would love to be notified when you begin offering Omission beer.

My name is _____ and my email or phone number is _____

Thank you. I can't wait for you to start carrying Omission.
